

COLDLink™

Universal Web Access to LaserFiche COLD Databases

- ▶ Simplified user experience
- ▶ Single-interface access to COLD and document repositories
- ▶ Maximized COLD productivity benefits
- ▶ Access to COLD archives via standard Web browsers

Unified COLD and Document Management

COLD (Computer Output to Laser Disc) applications create accessible electronic archives of computer-generated reports. COLD reduces costs associated with high-volume paper storage while improving productivity and enhancing customer service through fast information access. Municipal government, banks, insurance companies and other organizations that rely upon vast quantities of computer-generated reports benefit from COLD storage and retrieval.

COLD applications store and retrieve a massive, continually growing amount of information. Similarly, an organization's document management solution protects and provides instant access to business-critical scanned and electronic documents. Simultaneously searching across the COLD and document management databases is essential to maximize the benefits of both solutions.

Laserfiche COLDLink

Laserfiche COLDLink provides simplified access to COLD and Laserfiche document management databases via a single Web interface. End users no longer need to distinguish between COLD data and information from other sources, such as scanned invoices. Search and retrieval of COLD reports, paper files and electronic documents are instant, intuitive and seamless.

Ease-of-use is central to Laserfiche COLDLink. COLDLink works with Laserfiche and Laserfiche WebLink™, a Web document distribution solution, to deliver secure, organization-wide access to COLD and document repositories. Staff enjoy streamlined retrieval via standard Web browsers. Administrators configure the link between COLD and Laserfiche databases with point-and-click simplicity.
